ANNUAL REPORT

2018-19

Letter from the President-CEO and Chair of the Board:

The celebrations for CCIC’s 50th Anniversary continued throughout the year, with a joyful Annual General Meeting and Celebration at Canada’s National Arts Centre, a dynamic and challenging CCIC 2018 Annual Conference, and a vibrant 29th annual International Development Week – all of which brought together our sector for meaningful dialogue, recognizing our accomplishments and how much more we can achieve by working in collaboration.

Over the last year, a change of leadership and completion of a new Strategic Plan – inspiring us to Enable, to Lead, and to Innovate - have ushered a new phase in CCIC’s legacy of service to our sector. In September 2018, we launched the CCIC Leaders’ Pledge on Preventing and Addressing Sexual Misconduct, our collective promise to respond to abuses of power and promote workplaces and programs free from gender-based violence. We also published Daring to Risk and Fail, a comparative report on international organizations centralizing innovation in their practice. Both of these initiatives will impact our work over the next 5 years and beyond.

As we look forward to a bright future, we continue to be grateful for the immense contributions of former President-CEO Julia Sánchez, as well as long-time Policy and Research Manager Fraser-Reilly King and Finance and Administration Manager Anna Campos. With several new arrivals to propel this vision forward, CCIC progresses through the second half of 2019 full of promise, ready for the next big challenge.

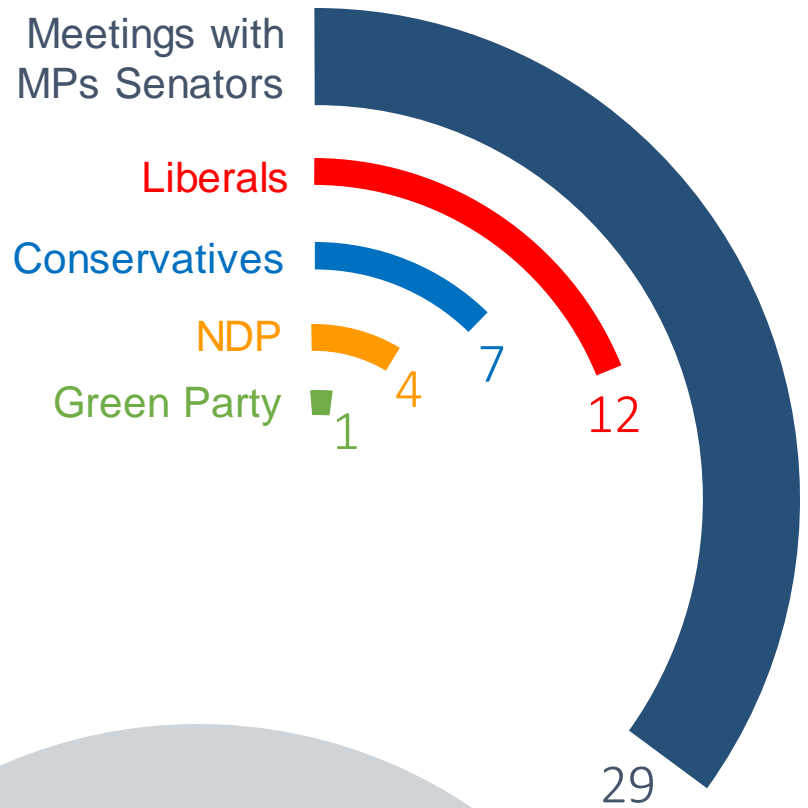

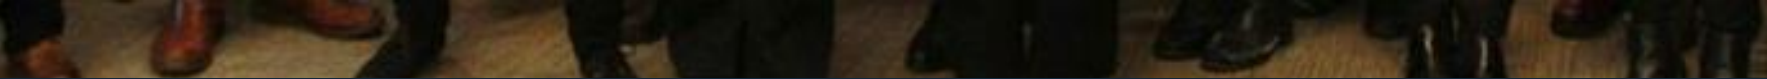

Through these many changes and developments, CCIC remains steadfast in our commitment to our members and to the international cooperation community at large. Here’s to building a fairer, safer, and more sustainable world!

In partnership with the Provincial and Regional Councils and Global Affairs Canada, CCIC convened its member organizations around the 29th annual International Development Week, launching a new website and social media pages on behalf of the sector and supporting a full-day event at the National Arts Centre that showcased our members' accomplishments while celebrating the contributions of individual Canadians. Using our 2017 research data, we tailored our key messages and identified the top 20 MPs to lobby. Great collaboration with the Minister's office procurement and access to a room inside parliament free or charge, which provided an "On-The-Hill", increased member participation and provided a candid lunch meet-and-great with Minister Bibeau.

Our nationwide campaign Bigger Than Our Borders supporting Canadian aid and individual Canadians who are working to make a difference around the world was launched in June 2018. The campaign team will be challenging Canadian citizens to signal their support for Canadian aid and ask their political representatives to push for Official Development Assistance (ODA) in their party platforms. The website offers one-click opportunities to sign our declaration, tweet respective MP and sign a letter to the Editor or to Parliament. I CARE Postcards were also produced and distributed by the Canadian Foodgrains Bank, CCIC, ONE, CanWaCH and Engineers Without Borders.

NEXT GENERATION

COLLABORATION FOR DEVELOPMENT

a CCIC - CASID program

In its second year, the Next Gen program led to

- Deeper understanding of the Canadian ecosystem of civil society organizations (CSOs) and academic collaborations. Two studies on the Canadian political economy of academic-CSO research partnerships that offered in-depth case studies of models of collaboration and recommendations for both policy makers and funders.
- Increase the collaborative lens in our current programming to test different models of collaboration amongst our members. This year's Annual Conference created space for enhanced dialogue between academics and practitioners and CCIC and CASID created enhanced platforms to encourage cross-sectoral exchange.

Learning and collaboration 20 events

Engaging CCIC+CASID members, students, regional working groups, government, academics, practitioners and students.

CASID PhD School 20 students

Networking and shared learning from September 18th to the 22nd in Ottawa.

NextGen Database 500 user profiles

Finding researchers from Canadian universities, colleges, research institutes, think-tanks and civil society organizations working on international development and humanitarian issues.

Advising Global Affairs Canada

Throughout 2018 and 2019, CCIC leveraged its membership to inform GAC decisions and processes through three key working groups:

1. Civil Society Policy Advisory Group
2. Task Force for Increasing Effectiveness
3. Chief Financial Officer Working Group

Civil Society Policy Advisory Group (CPAG)

Implementation plans have been completed on three of the nine objectives of the Civil Society Partnerships for International Assistance Policy - A Feminist Approach:

- Objective 1: Empowering Women and Girls and Promoting Gender Equality
- Objective 6: Establishing a More Predictable, Equitable, Flexible and Transparent Funding Mechanisms
- Objective 8: Fostering Multi-Stakeholder Approaches to International Assistance

The CSO-GAC focal groups are also developing implementation plans for the six remaining objectives, with a goal of having all nine completed and approved this summer and launched later this year.

Task Force on Improving Effectiveness (TaFIE)

- A new Contribution Agreement Negotiation process came into effect on January 1, 2019. This was a direct result of a Solution Team's recommendation to develop a formal process to speed up the time between project approval and signing final agreements.
- Improved clarity and consistency of reporting requirements and processes, which led to Global Affairs Canada's new International Assistance Results Reporting Guide for Partners, released in July 2018. CCIC hosted a webinar in December 2018, where Global Affairs Canada outlined key components of the new reporting guide to its members.
- Improved application processes, including publishing call notifications at least eight weeks in advance of a call launch, publishing more information in call notifications and keeping calls open for at least six weeks.

CCIC Chief Financial Officer (CFO) Working Group

- A new harmonized policy on cost-sharing and in-kind contribution guidance was published on October 1, 2018. This guidance applies to all new applications for funding received on or after April 1, 2019. To create this policy Global Affairs Canada consulted CCIC on two occasions. Some of the questions brought forward by CCIC members will feature in the Q&A portion for this policy. The in-kind contribution portion of the guide is pending publication.
- Global Affairs Canada has committed to create an alternative to timesheets by relying on the CFO Attestations. This change has not been implemented yet, but is currently scheduled for July 1st.
- Global Affairs Canada expects that a Policy on Salary Increases, which was developed in consultation with the CFO working group, will also be implemented on July 1st.

CCIC 2018 Annual Conference

Presented by CCIC and the Canadian Association for the Study of International Development (CASID), the CCIC 2018 Annual Conference invited participants to ask the question, “Is Canada Back?” Inspired by Justin Trudeau’s 2015 proclamation ‘Canada is Back’, this dynamic and provocative 2-day event presented panels illustrating or challenging Canada’s role in global leadership. Are we doing all that we could be doing in the world? The conference took place September 19 and 20 at AllSaints event space in Ottawa, and participants used a mobile app to benefit to the fullest from the conference and networking opportunities. CCIC also organized a public event titled Sexual and Reproductive Health and Rights: The Foundation for Gender Equality at Library and Archives Canada on the evening of September 19. Working closely with the CCIC Steering Committee to Address and Prevent Sexual Misconduct, CCIC, co-convened a dialogue between civil society and Global Affairs Canada about preventing and addressing sexual misconduct in the international cooperation sector on the margins of the conference.

CELEBRATE

Kate McInturff, Canadian Centre for Policy Alternatives (received by her family)

Kate was recognized as an amazing spokesperson and advocate, relentlessly advancing research and reporting on women's equality in the areas of gender justice, equal pay, women safety and affordable childcare. She will be missed greatly by many as her impact in the sector was quite meaningful. She was known for breaking emerging and complex issues into understandable and thought-provoking insights and calls to action, and as a key player in the National Capital Region's feminist community.

Beth Woroniuk from MATCH International Women's Fund, and co-founder of Women Peace and Security Network Canada

Beth has worked tirelessly to further gender equality and women's rights in numerous countries, including Ukraine, Sri Lanka, Nepal, Honduras, Bolivia and Nicaragua. From the development of analytical tools to policy development, research and training, Beth has also lobbied and testified before Parliament. She is considered the go to person for gender equality and inclusion of women in peace processes and peacebuilding efforts.
